

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A urinal for attaching to a toilet, having a toilet 5 seat, a bowl having an inner rim, having a plurality of hook and loop mounts, the urinal comprising; a plurality of interlocking air chambers, each air chamber positionable on top of another air chamber 10 for inflating the urinal for use; a circular support attached to one of the air chambers, having a plurality of hook and loop fasteners for securing the urinal to the hook and 15 loop mounts attached to the inner rim of the bowl of the toilet; and a foot pump attached to one of the air chambers, having a two way valve for inflating and deflating 20 the air chambers when depressed.

2. The urinal of claim 1, wherein the foot pump is depressed by a user to inflate the urinal and raise the toilet seat to an upright position.